NOTABLE ADDRESS MADE
BY PROFESSOR A. K. DAVISHis Tribute to Jefferson Davis Will Have Results in Lasting Memorial to Southern Leader.WRITINGS TO BE PUBLISHED They Will Be Adopted in Schools, Where Scholars May Learn Truth of Confederate History.The Times-Dispatch Bureau, 5 Hollingsworth Street, (Phone 1485)The address of Prof. Arthur Kyle Davis last night before Petersburg Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, on the occasion of the celebration of the anniversary of Jefferson Davis' birthday, aroused great interest and resulted in the inauguration by the chapter of a movement for a lasting memorial to the Confederacy's President.Prof. Davis spoke on "Jefferson Davis as a Writer, and gave a general outline and criticism, and made a plea for the inauguration by the Petersburg chapter of a memorial to the Confederacy. The memorial, which is the monumental book of Jefferson Davis, "The Rise and Fall of the Confederacy," was compared with the history of Stephens, "The War Between the States," the first giving a vivid and graphic outline and criticism of events, the other being a collection of constitutional and political colloquies. Stated briefly, the plan suggested by Mr. Davis looked to the immediate publication, under the auspices of the U. S. C. and V. Camps, of a new volume in the English Classic Series for school use. This volume is planned to include the cream of the writings of the two Presidents, Jefferson Davis and Abraham Lincoln.
Not more than four of the great speeches of each need to be included, and these inspiring utterances of the two foremost statesmen of the South contending principles should have definite place in the reading course in the English classics for high schools.The form written by Professor Davis suggested by Prof. Davis as especially worthy of study are the Faneuil Hall speech in Boston, the Federal relations speech before the Senate, the farwell speech and the first inaugural address.
These four would balance the four speeches generally included as Abraham Lincoln's greatest, the Cooper speech in New York, the first and second inaugural and the Gettysburg speech. Both in power and beauty the above writings of Jefferson Davis are fully equal to the Lincoln writings.To carry this plan into effect, Mr.
Davis suggested that the Daughters secure the help of A. P. Hill Camp commander and two of the leading contributors to the state, such as Superintendent Stearns and Alphonso Smith, of the university. He hopes that the honor of inaugurating this movement for this memorial of Jefferson Davis would be given to the Petersburg Chapter of Daughters.
Prof. Davis' suggestions were approved by the chapter, and a movement to carry the plans into effect will be at once started.To Unveil Marker.
Under the auspices of Petersburg Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, the marker to designate General Lee's headquarters at the Beasley Home, on High Street, will be unveiled on the occasion of the anniversary of the program will embrace several conference sessions, and brief addresses by the Rev. C. B. Bryan, D. D., and the Rev.
C. B. Bryan, D. D., and other markers are to be erected at historic points by the patriotic daughters.Preparing for Anniversary.
A call has been issued for a meeting to-morrow night at 8 P. M. in Camp, Sons of Confederate Veterans, to consider plans for the celebration of the fifty-third anniversary of the famous battle of Gettysburg, which occurs on July 30. The Common Council and the various Confederate and civic organizations of the city have approved of the proposed celebration, but leave the carrying out of the exercises to the sons, who inaugurated the movement. The exercises will be of a dignified and memorial character, with an address by some man of national reputation, to be followed by It has been suggested that invitations be extended to all survivors of the battle in that city and other States to attend and participate in the celebration.
But all details will be settled by the sons.Hobson to Speak.
Congressman Richmond P. Hobson, of Alabama, who is making a speaking tour of Virginia in the interest of State-wide prohibition, will deliver an address to the people of Petersburg on Saturday afternoon at 8 P. M. at the auditorium of the R. E. Lee public on Washington Street. He comes to Petersburg at the request of the local address to the people of Petersburg very active in the cause, and which will seek to assemble a large audience for the Congressman, and make his visit an event of importance.
Mr. Hobson will speak at a number of points in the next several weeks.Meeting of Board of Visitors.
The regular meeting of the board of visitors of the Virginia National and Industrial Institute was held yesterday afternoon, and much business was considered. Professor John M. Garland, for several years a teacher at the Institute, was elected president to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late James Hugo Johnston. All other members of the board, officers, teachers and employees were appointed.
Dr. E. L. McGill, of this city, was elected physician to the school to succeed Dr. John Mann, resigned. Plans for erecting a dormitory building to be erected this year and for other improvements in contemplation were discussed. The new dormitory will largely accommodate for admission having been turned away each session for lack of accommodations.Personal Intelligence.
Announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Helen Cameron, of this city, and Dr. Samuel W. Budd, formerly of Petersburg, will take place at noon on Monday, June 15, at "Ravenscroft," the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Cameron, and will be private, only members of the immediate families attending.The members of the Virginia National and Industrial Institute, comprising the class of the Nurses' Training School last night delightfully entertained a number of friends at a launch party, making her trip to City Point.

Theodore Gill, thirteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Gill, of Sutherland, Dinwiddie County, died at the Petersburg Hospital yesterday afternoon. The youth was taken suddenly ill day before yesterday and was rushed to the hospital here for treatment. His condition was found to be hopeless and surgical aid of no avail. In twenty-four hours after the attack he was dead. The body was taken home for burial.

General News Notes.

The new Y. M. C. A. building on Union Street is expected to be ready for dedication and occupancy by October 1.Thirty-two graduates of the Pensacola (colored) High School will be awarded diplomas at the closing exercises next week. Rev. W. T. Johnson, of Richmond, will deliver the address.
The revival services which have been in progress at the First Baptist Church for several days will close to-morrow night. There have been a number of conversions, and much spiritual benefit has resulted.

Twynham-Herndon.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Fredericksburg, Va., June 4.—James Mason Twynham, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Miss Haselline James Herndon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Herndon, of Orange County, were united in marriage at Flat Run Baptist Church today. The groom is a brother of Orange, performing the ceremony. Miss Christine DuVall was maid of honor, and Bessie Twynham acted as best man.The bride was Miss Alice Mary Wood, of Virginia Falls, and the bridegroom was Mr. James Herndon, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Twynham left for a bridal trip, and upon their return will make their home at Rapid. The groom is a brother of Mrs.
H. P. Crismond, Jr., of this city, and the bride has a number of relatives and friends here.DOSE OF NITRATE ACID FATAL TO HORACE THOMPSON[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Petersburg, Va., June 4.—Horace Thompson, aged twenty, an employee in the city water works department, and a stepson of Detective John J. Helan, committed suicide by drinking a swallowing nitrate acid. Young Thompson's act is attributed to temporary mental aberration. This was the second time that he had taken acid with suicidal intent. He is the son of a this morning, and told his friends that he thought that he was going to lose his position with the city. After purchasing the acid he told the person from whom he purchased it that he was going to take it, and walking into a store on Bank Street, he swallowed the contents of the bottle. He was at once taken to the hospital, and every effort was made to save him, but he died in a few minutes.FOURTEEN SALOONS REFUSED LICENSE[Continued From First Page.] proven that they are fit persons to enjoy the saloon business, and the important question before the court was whether the locations under consideration were suitable and proper for the conduct of such business.

NOT A MATTER OF RIGHT

A portion of Judge Richardson's opinion reads:
"License to sell intoxicating liquors is a privilege, and cannot be demanded as a right under the law. In the argument of these cases much stress has been laid upon the fact that in many cases saloons have been located at the same place for a number of years, and have been well conducted.
It is true that these facts are entitled to just consideration when the conditions of the case are taken into consideration, but no vested right in the particular licenses are granted for a limited period, and changed conditions, or conditions previously unknown to the court, bring in new factors, and the appropriateness of the location whenever an application is made for the granting or renewal of a license."In some of these cases conditions have changed, and in others the appropriateness of the location is in question. A saloon cannot be allowed to retain its license in cases of the city along other more useful lines, and where residences, churches, schools and other similar institutions have been erected, and it is not in the interest of the community that such of such saloons becomes unsuitable and inappropriate, such saloons must be discontinued or removed.

NO FIXED RULES

"The law as applied to cities does not in terms prohibit the location of bar-rooms in residential sections, or within the city limits, or near churches and schools, but such location is a most important factor in the consideration of the court. In most of these cases these saloons are located in sections which are heavily business and residential sections. Some of them are located on streets which have a few business houses, but are largely residential, and in a short time will become entirely so, while others are on streets which have a few residences, but are regarded as business streets. No fixed rule can therefore be laid down on the subject, but each case must be determined by all the conditions."The statute prescribes that no ardent spirits shall be delivered to any female in any saloon. There has been evidence adduced in these cases of the violation of the spirit of this law. In one case it has been shown that a woman went to the side door of a saloon, and handed in a bucket; in a few moments the bucket was returned to her filled with beer, and she put money in the hand stretched out to her.
This was a direct violation of the statute, and the bucket was delivered by the proprietor or his employee to an other case there has been evidence that women have often given their buckets or pails to men who would take them to the bar, and get beer and deliver it to them on the outside. In some instances it may appear that the proprietor of the saloon was not aware of the fact that this liquor was purchased for a woman, but when this practice continued from day to day he will be presumed to have known it, and will be held responsible.

CONNECTED WITH GROCERIES

"In a number of cases it has been shown that the applicants for renewal of licenses keep a grocery in front, and have the saloon in the rear of the room in which they do business. These saloons are in some instances divided by a wooden partition with swinging doors, and an opening behind the bar, by which the employee takes the grocery to the bar. There is no law which expressly forbids this combination; but the object of the law, one of which is to protect women and minors from the contamination of the saloon, is violated. Women and minors go freely into these groceries on business, and it is almost certain that they will hear of the saloon in the bar which they should not hear. And besides this, a combination of such business furnishes an easy method for the violation of law in other particulars. These saloons are in some instances in this city already licensed, and the conditions alone will not be regarded at this time a sufficient cause for the revocation of licenses, but hereafter must be taken into consideration. It is required that the saloon be a separate bar, or so arranged their places as to make them entirely separate and distinct."

Invitations Received.

Lynchburg, Va., June 4.—Invitations have been received here to the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Louise Keys, daughter of Mrs. P. H. Keys, of Austin, Texas, to Charles W. Chevalier, formerly of Lynchburg, but now of Indianapolis. The marriage will take place in Austin, June 9.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lynchburg, Va., June 4.—Miss Cora Elizabeth Grover and Thomas E.
Ewart, both of this city, were married in Richmond yesterday. After a trip to Norfolk, they will return to Lynchburg to make their home."INS" OF FEDERATION ELECT THEIR TICKETE. E. Davidson, of Richmond, Chosen to Head Union Men of Virginia—Next Convention, Fredericksburg[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Norfolk, Va., June 4.—Officers were elected and Fredericksburg was chosen as the next place of meeting of the Virginia Federation of Labor, at the concluding session of its annual convention here to-day. A number of important resolutions were adopted by the federation, among them one amending the constitution so as to prohibit any member from being eligible to office in the convention or as a delegate unless he is a qualified voter of the city or community he represents.While factional politics played a strong part in the contest for offices, the "ins" won out by the election of the following ticket: president, E. E.
Davidson, of Richmond; secretary, Edward H. Colvin, of Alexandria; financial secretary-treasurer, E. E. Hickman, of Roanoke; executive board, of Alexandria, E. E. Davidson, of Richmond; of Newport News, C. H.
Perry, of Norfolk; J. E. Reynolds, of Richmond; and W. D. Morgan, of Portsmouth; vice-presidents, W. E.
Baker, of Norfolk; T. Miller, of Roanoke; L. M. Millan, of Alexandria; G. T. Thomas, of Portsmouth; M. L.
Latham, of Fredericksburg; J. W.
Hickman, of Chesapeake; Miss Maude Young, of Danville; J. E. Baker, of Lynchburg; D. W. Sepecker, of Bristol; William James, of Newport News; W.
Bland, of Greer; G. H. Walker, of Hampton, and G. C. Johnson, of Lowry, Va.; sergeant-at-arms, L. C. Cole, of Newport News.In appreciation of his work in securing the enactment of labor legislation at the last session of the General Assembly, J. B. Clinchard, of Newport News, was presented with a handsome gold badge on behalf of the legislative committee of the federation.Most of the 300 delegates and visitors left for their homes to-night.DOSE OF NITRATE ACID

PRACTICALLY ENDEDSenate Committee Next Week to Take to ReportWashington, June 4.—With testimony to-day by two railroad attorneys, the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee practically completed its antitrust hearings, and next week will take up the task of settling upon one or more bills to report to the Senate.The committee has before it a mass of testimony from many parties interested in the proposed legislation, and drafts of several bills of varying scope.

Early next week it probably will receive a portion of the antitrust legislation approved by the House, and from out of all this material will shape one or more bills which it will ask the Senate to pass.In the absence of definite word from the White House, an effort probably will be made to report out a comprehensive bill.A motion is pending before the committee to report only a trade commission bill, and defer action on other subjects until next winter. Many Senators openly favor this plan, and the testimony of many witnesses is certain to lead to a more careful scrutiny of the legislation to receive committee approval. For the present, however, the committee probably will proceed on the theory that the committee shall pass sweeping legislation before adjustment, and will report out measures that will give it opportunity.The committee listened to-day to objections to the so-called House railroad capitalization bill from George F.
Barnard, vice-president of the Erie counsel for the Louisville and Nash-
